Conservation Outcomes
Mountains of Southwest China

These outcomes comprise the effective investment geographically and thematically.

Donors, governments, and nongovernmental organizations in the region have supported conservation initiatives, particularly those that maintain key ecosystem processes and that are compatible with the needs of area-use planning. Most investment, however, will continue to occur in priority areas.

Specific strategic directions and investment priorities identified by CEPF can be found in the "Donors' Guide to Conservation in the Mountains of Southwest China". For more information, please refer to www.cepf.net.
